AAMS 35 Years In Air Field

New Value Abyssinia "V" Invert Is Found

Thomas P. Duffy, Luxembourg specialist of West Haven 16, Conn. reports that Linn's December 15 story on the discovery of the 10c Abyssinian Victory stamp with the overprint inverted recalled to his mind the fact that he has a second denomination of this issue showing this variety.

"I have two of the 25c value which I obtained in a mixture lot purchased from a Belgian source several years ago," he explained. He separated the pair and submitted one copy of the 25c blue with contrasting red overprint which shows both the inverted "V" and the two groups of native characters which are normally directly above the arms of the "V".

Ghana Set To Honor Lincoln In February

Manfred Lehman, head of the Ghana Philatelic Agency, New York City, has announced that Ghana contemplates releasing a set of commemoratives sometime in February to note the 150th birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln.

He made the statement while addressing the initial meeting of the newly formed Ghana Philatelic Society at the Sloan House YMCA, New York City, recently. He was not able to give any details as to the possible number of adhesives to constitute the set, their values, or the date(s) of release.

Mr. Lehmann assured his hearers that these matters were being worked out, and that the best interests of philately and philatelists would be given every consideration at all times.

Luxembourg Edition

What will be in the nature of an important inaugural to the new year of 1959 is the Luxembourg Edition of Linn's Weekly Stamp News to appear on January 12. Reading matter and pictures will be devoted to the philately of this small nation of Europe. While the physical boundaries of the country might earn it the designation of tiny, its philately is of a sizeable stature — there are many collectors in the United States and abroad who pursue Luxembourg's issues, past and present, most avidly. Articles and illustrations have been prepared by Luxembourgers under the direction of the nation's Postal Administration. This will make the fifth edition of Linn's which has had its editorial contents and pictures so prepared. Previous ones were by The Netherlands, Egypt, Switzerland and Finland.

Oregon Statehood 4c February 14 Features Prairie Schooner At End Of Successful Journey

The 4c Oregon Statehood Centennial commemorative, to be first placed on sale February 14, at Astoria, Ore. will symbolize the end of the long overland trek of its original settlers, according to Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

Robert Hallock of Newton, Conn. is the artist who designed the forthcoming adhesive. It emphasizes a rear view of an unhitched, empty covered wagon, typical of those used over the Oregon Trail by the early settlers. No form of life is shown, but the perfect condition of the vehicle bespeaks the successful completion of another long, pioneer settlers' trek to the virgin territory.

The stark realism of the stamp design depicts the covered wagon in the center, with Mt. Hood to the right. The terrain slopes to the left, or west, meeting the Pacific Ocean. The appearance is quite suggestive of the 1947 commemorative noting the centenary of the settlement of Utah, and rather more static.

In the upper portion of the design, in dark Gothic lettering arranged in two lines, is "Oregon Statehood 1859 1959". In the sky, to the wagon's left, is a white star, symbolizing statehood, while across the bottom, in white Gothic lettering against a solid background, is "U. S. Postage 4 Cents".

The new stamp, measuring 0.84 by 1.44 inches, arranged horizontally, will be printed in a blue green color in panes of 50, electric-eye perforated and printed by the rotary process. An initial printing of 120,000,000 has been authorized.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send addressed envelopes to the postmaster, Astoria, Ore. with remittances to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed. An enclosure of medium weight should be placed in each envelope and the flap either turned in or sealed. The outside envelopes to the postmaster should be endorsed

"First Day Covers Oregon Statehood Stamp"

Oregon is one of the three "West Coast" states, the others being California to the south and Washington to the north. It was named for its greatest river, now the Columbia, which was called the Ouragan by the Indians.

In area it ranks ninth, having 96,315 square miles. Its first explorers landed in 1788, from a boat commanded by Robert Gray of Boston. The first actual settlement was at Astoria, by John Jacob Astor's fur trading company, in 1811. By 1848 Oregon was made a territory, and eleven years later it became a state. Its first capital was Oregon City, and later Salem.

It is interesting to note that the Oregon Trail stretched across the country for roughly 2000 miles. It began at Independence, Mo., crossed the Rocky Mountains, and ended at what is now Vancouver, in the state of Washington. Its beginnings were blazed by Indians and fur trappers. The first explorer to travel over the whole length of it is believed to have been Nathaniel J. Wyeth, in 1832.

American Air Mail Society In Long Campaign Has Developed And Popularized Aerophilately

George D. Kingdom

Aerophilately today is both accepted and recognized as one of the major fields in the entire realm of stamp and cover collecting. The writer as one of those who became fascinated by the collection of airmail stamps and covers while it was still in its early stages, was reluctant to undertake an article for this special edition of Linn's Weekly Stamp News with only an assignment from Editor-in-Chief Eisendrath to "write about air mails".

However, with free rein, he has chosen to call upon his recollections from over 35 years of active association with aerophilately, together with his reference to the pages of "The Airpost Journal" which has just concluded its 27th year of continual publication as the official organ of the American Air Mail Society, as he approaches his pleasant task.

This is to bring to you readers knowledge and information concerning the many collecting phases and branches which exist in the field of airmail stamp and cover collecting, and also recognition of some of the individuals who have made valuable contributions to the progress and stability of aerophilately as it is today.

As early as 1929, the American Air Mail Society issued a printed statement of policy which it believed should be the guide accepted by collectors in their collecting activities. A part of it bears repeating here because it has as much application in principle today as it did then. We quote from said statement in part as follows:

"It seems incontrovertible that Aerophilately in its basic nature is and must be unalterably identified with those factors which form its very name, namely AERO denoting by implication and practice a FLOWN letter or cover, and PHILATELY with its fundamental relation to the POSTAL service and Aerial postal history of any particular country.

"This definition is not unusual or a departure from accepted thought and practice. It is generally recognized by both major groups of opinion as basic. It is given here as a guide to those new to the hobby and to clarify thought on the underlying nature of AIR MAIL collecting."

Suffice it to write here, that basically recognized as true airmail stamp and cover collecting, are only such stamps and covers as reflect a direct connection with the use of aerial transportation as a means of developing and recording the progress and growth of our airmail system throughout the world.

True, there are many kindred forms of collecting which interest certain collectors, but these so-called sidelines should always be collected with full knowledge that in all likelihood these items will never attain recognition as having catalogable status.

While the widespread use of the air as a manner of transporting mail is a creation of the 20th Century, recognized today as the earliest form of air transportation are the balloon and the pigeon. In the collectable category, the most prominent are known as the Balloon Posts of the Siege of Paris, 1870-71.

In all 55 balloons were released carrying mail. About two and half million letters were dispatched as well as 238 passengers, 361 pigeons and 5 dogs. With the exception of three balloons captured by the enemy and two lost at sea, all safely landed in friendly territory.

The collectible items in any balloon post collection from the Siege of Paris include different dates of the siege, different balloon ascensions, letters with different stamps and combinations, letters addressed to foreign countries, different forms used, Letter-Journals, journals and news sheets, and cancellations of Paris, sub-offices and suburban, both intra and extra muros.

Also there are military cancellations and postmarks, mail entrusted to aeronauts or their passengers, unpaid and insufficiently paid letters, and letters addressed to prisoners of war.

For many years the foremost collectors of balloon posts have been Theodore Champion and L. A. Chantier of France and George W. Angers, of Springfield, Mass. Mr. Angers' collection of balloon posts together with his very rare collection of pigeon pellicules has won many high awards in international and national exhibitions.

An epochal date is December 17, 1903 when the Wright Brothers, Wilbur and Orville startled the world by lifting a heavier-than-air, self-propelled machine off the sand at

AAMS Chapter News

The American Air Mail Society, in addition to operating as an international organization for the promotion of aerophilately, also fosters four units in specialized areas of collecting and 30 chapters or local groups throughout the United States plus one in Cuba. The last is the Club Philatelico de la Republica de Cuba, of which Rafael Oriol is president.

The most recently established chapter is No. 31, the Metropolitan Air-Mail Cover Club which meets at the Happiness Exchange Fdn. Bldg., New York City. Harold J. Frankel, 9307 Third Ave., New York, is publicity and contact man for this group.

AAMS special units are: First Flight Federation, No. 1; Aero Postal Stationery Society of America, No. 2; Zeppelin Post Society, No. 3; and our latest one, the Rocket Air Mail Society, No. 4.

Many of the 31 chapters publish their own bulletins and magazines, such as "The Jack Knight Air Mail Log", by Chapter 23 of Chicago, Ill., and the "Metropolitan Bulletin", by Chapter 31 of New York City. The chapters hold interesting meetings, auctions and exhibits in different sections of this country. Collectors should contact the undersigned for further information on their local chapters. Many of them, such as Chicago, New York and Detroit welcome junior members to their meetings. The American Air Mail Society has always been interested in helping new collectors and juniors to understand the pleasures of the airmail hobby. Full details of the AAMS plan and activities are available from Mrs. Florence Kleinert, chapter Chairman, 213 Virginia Ave., Fullerton, Pa.

AAMS Sales Department

The American Air Mail Society operates a sales department for the convenience of its members. They may buy, sell or do both through this service operation which handles only stamps or covers in the airmail category. Much fine material is on hand in both stamps and covers.

In the past, the department has supplied members with all U. S. first day covers. There have been available such rarities in FDC's as C1 to 6, C10a, C16 and all of the Zeppelin items. Many fine stamps have passed through the department including rare Sinkings and numerous varieties and errors. In most cases prices were less than current retail.

For more information on the AAMS or the sales department, collectors may write the sales manager, Herman Kleinert, 213 Virginia Ave., Fullerton, Pa.

Luxembourg To Note Ruler's Long Reign

The 40th anniversary of the accession to the throne of Luxembourg of Grand Duchess Charlotte will be commemorated January 15 by a set of three stamps bearing her portrait in profile, from a photograph by Edouard Kutter. The dates 1919 and 1949 are at the lower left and right, respectively.

Values are 1.50 francs, light olive green and dark gray green; 2.50fr., rose and dark brown; and 5fr., light blue and slate gray. Printing is in photogravure by Courvoisier S. A. of La Chaux-de-Fonds, in sheets of 25. The stamps will remain on sale until stocks are exhausted, and valid for postage until further notice.

Collectors may order mint stamps at face, and may send up to ten addressed envelopes each for first day servicing. All orders must be accompanied by proper remittances including 10fr. service charge per order, in international money.

More About Stolen Stamps

Much has been printed in the past two or three months about a copy of the U.S. 24c Airmail Invert, believed to be one from the block of four that belonged to Mrs. McCoy of New York, and which was stolen at the Norfolk Convention of the APS.

The most recent bit of information that we have seen with regard to this single stamp is in an article in the New York Times of December 2.

It is interesting to consider what this story says. In the first place it does state that the FBI claims that it has scientifically proven that the stamp is from the block of four which was stolen. Then it goes on to say that the stamp is appraised at $3000 due to its condition. Further, that the FBI says any prosecution is up to local authorities because the FBI will bother with nothing unless it concerns a valuation of over $5000.

Is there not someone in the FBI who has a mind that should cause him to reason that if this stamp is positively a part of the stolen block then it automatically becomes a case involving the block of four originally valued at $35,000? Now with the block broken, one stamp is quoted at $3000. Certainly if it is a part of the block as the FBI states, then that involves the whole block and the valuation is certainly over $5000.

The article goes further and states that the dealer who has the stamp claims that he has had it in his possession for several years, even before it was stolen.

If this is a true statement there is certainly someone of good reputation in Chicago who ought to be able to vouch for the fact that he had seen the stamp in the possession of this man.

To our way of thinking, from what we see and hear, too many of our laws are made to protect the crooks rather than the decent people and we doubt if the FBI will find it convenient to look upon this matter as we suggest.

Another Way Of Beating The Law

In our investigation of the counterfeit UN Precancels we have already obtained a lot of information that was not previously available to us. A bit later we will write this story again. However we have run into a situation that is laughable and ridiculous to say the least. We well remember that when the UN was first set up that we read some sort of a lot of rules and regulations that we believed tied in the UN Postal Administration with that of the United States in many ways and we have been under the opinion that any violation of the UN Administration would be equivalent to an offense against the U. S. Post Office Department.

We do know that U. S. Post Office Inspectors look into UN affairs to the extent that they are investigating these counterfeits, but that seems to be the end of the line as far as they are concerned.

We are told that the laws protecting United States stamps do not apply to UN stamps. Then we asked how about foreign stamps, our laws also forbid tampering with them. To this the Postal Inspector said that the UN is not a foreign government, so with the U.S. blocked out and the Foreign blocked out, there seems to be no law that protects the UN stamps from manipulation or from being counterfeited. Sure sounds silly, doesn't it?

The Postal Inspectors seem to feel that they are stymied here. I want to suggest however that since the Inspectors know, and many other people know, the source of these counterfeits that the man can and should be picked up for fraud through the U. S. Mails. They could certainly make that stand up and if not it is high time to dispense with inspectors entirely.

The man who promoted the sale of these stamps has been known to have attended the Precancel Convention in New York when last held there and was seen, so we are told with a thick bundle of blocks of four of the faked stamps, offering them to all comers. Certainly the dealers all over the country who have been selling these stamps know from whom they bought them and there is no question in the world but that they are definitely counterfeits.

We know of at least one dealer who has already received back stamps from people who bought them from him and has made cash refunds of a good many dollars.

Someone is going to take a big loss in this business. Up to this time it has been the poor collector who was cheated. We have letters in which various sums from a few dollars up to over $100 have been paid by collectors for some of these items. One recent letter from a lady states that she paid $125 for a block of nine. We have from another party a full sheet, a block of ten, a block of six and a block of four.

Are the collectors going to take the loss or are they going to throw it back on the man who sold the stamps to them? An investigation should show that they all came from the same source and if there is no law by which this party can be apprehended and given free room and board in one of Uncle Samuel's big institutions for a period of time, then it is time such laws were made.

Up to recently it has been the belief that the counterfeits were all made by overprinting the second printing of the UN 1½c stamp. The second printing in a full sheet or in many positions from the sheet can be told at a glance, but when the sheet is broken up it is much more difficult to tell. There are major differences in the printings on the genuine and the faked sheets that can be seen at a glance.

Just recently we have acquired a full sheet of the original first printing of the UN 1½c stamp which has the counterfeit overprint on the stamps. There is no question about this, it is positively a counterfeit and the printing differs a great bit from genuine sheets. More about this when I get caught up with the rest of my mail and have time to write the whole story.

Herbert Rosen Gains Two German Awards

At the International Thematic Stamp Exhibition, MOBRIA, held recently in Berlin, Herbert Rosen of New York was given an honorary award for distinguished service in philately (Fur Verdienste Um Die Philatelie).

On this occasion, he was also the recipient of a silver and bronze medal for his extensive collection and book "Radio Philatelia", as well as for his filmstrip series "Adventures in Stamps". This is the collection which recently received the grand award at the First Day Cover Society Exhibition in Philadelphia, Pa.

Other honors which Mr. Rosen received in 1958 are a trophy award at the Postal History Society, a first prize at the ISPEX, a first at the American Air Mail Society, and still another first prize and a court of honor award at the Aero Philatelists Exhibition.

Formosa Releases Two New Overprints

According to a recent notice from the Directorate General of Posts, Taipei, Formosa, the Republic of China has overprinted two old adhesives to create a new 20c regular and $3.50 airmail pair which appeared December 11.

In the first instance the "ordinary letter unit" stamp of July 1949, Scott's No. 959, orange, showing a locomotive and a ship, was converted to 20c value by a green overprint. Arabic numerals at the upper right, and Chinese at the lower left, indicate the new denomination. The edition is 18 million, without gum, rouletted.

In the second case the original stamp was the September 1, 1954 No. C67 airmail in blue green. Here the upper left $5 has been obliterated and a new figure, $3.50, added in Arabic characters at the lower right. Both surcharges are in red. Again the stamps are without gum, but this edition is only 500,000 copies.

Hands And Balance On Yugoslav UN Item

Two hands, one white and the other black, dominate the design of the 30 dinars slate blue adhesive issued by Yugoslavia December 10 to mark Human Rights Day. Between them they support in perfect balance a stylized representation of the scales of Justice, symbolic of the equality of the rights of mankind, after a design by Radomir Stevic of the Academy in Belgrade.

Tanasije Krnjajic was the engraver, with printing in sheets of 50 by the copper engraving process at the national banknote plant in Belgrade. The edition was 400,000, according to the information supplied by the General Direction of Posts, Telegraphs and Telephones.

Compulsory Anti-TB Dozen From Ethiopia

According to the Director of Posts of Ethiopia, all regular postage stamps of the values of 1c to $1 were removed from sale throughout the country for the period December 1-25. To replace them a set of twelve semipostals bearing surtaxes for the anti-TB and other charity efforts was placed on sale.

Duplicating such items of the past were values of 5c plus 2c, 10c plus 3c, 15c plus 3c, 30c plus 5c, 50c plus 7c, and $1 plus 10c. New denominations issued for the first time were 20c plus 3c, 25c plus 4c, 35c plus 5c, 60c plus 7c, 65c plus 7c, and 80c plus 9c.

The sale of airgrams and postcards was not restricted during the December 1-25 period, nor were sales of the $3, $5 and $10 adhesives.

CARL P. RUETH

It isn't often that straying is done from strictly U. S. considerations in this column. Now and again the UN is written about — it is operated by the U.S. Post Office Department for the United Nations — and so figures for some attention. Then when we have special editions devoted to areas in which I am interested some commenting is done in such directions.

This time around I'd like to point up a topic which has really come into its own with the celebration of its 10th anniversary. That is Human Rights Day. This year, it seems half the nations of the world have produced commems, in singles and sets, for the event.

What hit me hardest was the fact that most of these designs have top-notch artwork in compatible colors. If you enjoy goodlooking stamps as much as I do, most of these will provide a lot of temptation to the unloosening of your purse-strings.

This is indeed a good topic in many respects. Practically all present and past issues are still available at a reasonable figure as mint, used or FDC's. They make a stunning collection. The Human Rights commemoration was begun by the UN which released a pair in 1952 for the fourth anniversary and has continued with a set of two each year since.

The UN duo of 1954 is probably the most expensive of them all because of the 3c denomination which the Scott Catalog rates at $12 mint and $6 used while the Minkus cites $10.75 for mint and $4.75 used. However, for your money, you get what in my opinion is one of the most beautiful stamp designs of the present century. I like it best in the red orange.

I know of no list which notes all the Human Rights commems released to date. Undoubtedly some smart dealer will see eye to eye with me on this topic and prepare one in conjunction with a sizeable stock.

1. In 1932 the postal rate was changed from 2c to 3c. Which was the last 2c commem under the old rate, and the first 3c under the new?

2. In 1958 the postal rate was raised from 3c to 4c. Which was the last 3c commem under the old rate and the first 4c under the new?

Both the above questions were sent in by Fred Giffoniello of Maplewood, N.J. Always happy to have you send in yours. If usable they will be printed.

Guess who made a boo-boo out loud? Me, that's who!

Charles A. Daly of Brooklyn, N.Y. points out in the December 15 column I pictured the Bolivar 8c commem and then wrote about the 8c Kossuth. The whole business concerned the Bolivar. Shown was a block of four with the two branches of laurel, one on each side of the torch at the top of the design, missing. They were the only part in the blue color which was not registered in the design.

I sincerely hope I didn't cause too many of you to chase up the Boulevard de Kossuth when you should have been on the Avenida Bolivar. Velly sollee.

Remember last week you were told of the postmark of a town which did not exist — New Branford instead of North Branford? This time around there are two similar incidents to report in the "it can't possibly happen" category.

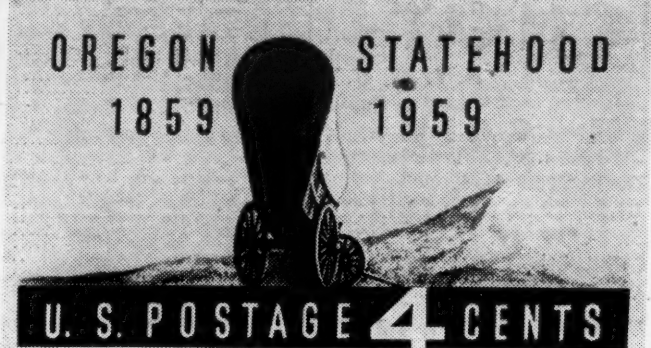

Jules M. Elliott of New York City reports that he has two covers cancelled at Antarctica on May 31 on which are the new 7c airmail stamp. The airmail had its first day of issue on July 31 at Philadelphia!! It is quite possible that the press run on the new stamp did not begin until mid-June, but the fact that it is on cover exactly two months before its official release date, is distinction enough for these items.

Kenneth E. Bulger, APO Seattle, has submitted a cover with an even greater spread. His has the Pronghorn Antelope Conservation stamp tied to cover with a February 13, 1956 postmark from the "Heartwell Sta.", a sub post office of Rutland, Vt. A cachet on the same cover informs that that was the opening day of the Heartwell Station.

It so happens that the Antelope had its first day of issue on June 22, a little over four months later!

Of course the explanation lies in the fact that some one was able to place the stamps of a later date on the covers, and have them cancelled in Antarctica and at Heartwell with pre-dated cancelling devices.

The post office frowns on such shenanigans but it does happen now and again with startling results as the above.

QUITE SUGGESTIVE OF THE 1947 UTAH STAMP is the design of the February 14 one to commemorate the 100th anniversary of Oregon's statehood. The perfect condition of the wagon in the foreground would indicate that it was discarded at the end of a successful expedition rather than abandoned under duress on the way. The new adhesives will be blue green in color, in panes of 50 in an edition of 120 million.

Shown here is as about a mixed up lot of stamps as one would be able to find in a post office in a day's time. That is actually where they came from according to Jack Hoebel of Freeport, Ill. whose property they are.

If you believe you see the perforations running every which way through the stamps, your eyes are not giving you a hard way to go — they are. This piece is about as bad in that respect as any I have ever seen.

As you can see it is the 3c Presidential from two left side panes. Of special interest to the beginning collector are the two plate numbers. 23971 is on the piece at the top, while 23972 is on the under one. You can also see the wide selvage between the two numbers and the line in the center of it.

This is a good illustration of how two different plates are butted together on the printing press to produce stamps. The line between the two plate numbers, in the selvage, is known as a joint line (where the plates join together). The tiny crack at this joint takes ink just like the incised lines in the printing plate, and prints just like they do.

The sheets of four post office size panes are generally cut apart right along that line which is why you do not always find it on your pane. Sometimes the cut is right on the line, other times one side or the other. In any event it is not there as a guide — it is a by-product of the printing operation.

Stapan Gela of Toronto, Canada has sent an elaborate pictorial brochure of that city in which is an item of interest for U.S. collectors — perhaps our Post Office Department, too.

You will remember that at the top of the Freedom of the Press commem is an arm and hand holding a quill pen. That exact same drawing is on page two of the brochure.

The brochure was published in March 1958; the stamp was issued on September 22, 1958. There is every reason to believe therefore that the Canadians had prior rights to this arm, hand and pen since they did have to have their material prepared and ready for the printers weeks before the publication date.

It seems that the designer of the Freedom of the Press commem "stole" this element of the design from our northern neighbors. Why he would will remain a great puzzle to many since it does not fit in with the rest of the stamp's picture and is about as zany a thing as we have had flying loose in quite some time.

Aero Philately's Questions And Answers

Julius Weiss

Our "Airlines and Philately" feature in Linn's has brought us many questions from all points of the compass. Since this issue is devoted to the American Air Mail Society we feel it a proper time to answer some of the questions most frequently put by Linn's readers.

Many want to know a bit about U.S. first flights (FF's). First, the U.S. government contracts various routes with various lines. For the philatelist such a Contract Air Mail first flight item is called a "CAM", while the Foreign Contract Air Mail route is called an "FAM". In each case a following number indicates just which particular CAM or FAM is meant.

Many countries in South America, Europe and Asia have internal flight systems which give postal markings to all mail carried via first flights. We can report that Germany (East and West), Australia, New Zealand, Japan, Austria, Argentina, and many more, tend to aid the first flight collector with special cancels or cachets.

Our U. S. first flights are very easy to obtain. In fact, many a child of 10 years or so has written us about some "gem" he has received via his own effort. Merely watch the philatelic press as well as the travel section of your local newspaper. Facts pertaining to new routes and craft are always news.

Use best quality envelopes on all covers for your collection. Submit your cover(s) to the postmaster of the announced dispatch city. Covers should be addressed to yourself or the person you desire to receive the item. Franking should always be the best obtainable—commemoratives.

A space for the cachet should be kept on the left side of the envelope, with the address well over in the lower right-hand corner. The airmail rate must be used for the franking. Most U.S. FF's are backstamped at destination. This is a most vital part of a flight cover as through this postal marking the speed of dispatch is revealed as well as the historical facts of the flight. Always remember to mention on the outer wrapper in which you mail your envelopes to the postmaster that it is "philatelic first flight mail" as this will aid the postmaster to channel it to the proper section.

Foreign flights (FAM's) are handled in the same way. It must be remembered that foreign airmail varies as to rates. Therefore ask your local postmaster for rates to various countries via airmail in order that your covers may be franked with the proper rate.

Some FAM firsts take a bit longer to be returned as in many cases they are returned via surface mail, as the postage pays only to the destination without provision for return airmail fee. We can report that some FAM's do come back pronto via airmail but such service is always a courtesy of the carrier.

We touched a bit on the franking—yes, always use the best possible in postage for both FAM and CAM covers. Some dealers (the old school) still feel a flight cover is valued merely by the adhesives it contains.

This in our opinion is a gross error as there is great history found amongst the souvenir flight items which many collectors of today possess. In fact, this is history in its purest form for the actual postal marking tells a story which in many cases only the pilot knows in full.

Readers ask about semiofficial airmail stamps which they can not find in the regular catalogs of the world. Obtain all of this material you can, as much of it is elusive, valuable property. There is one good philatelic guide for it; a stamped, addressed envelope to the writer within 10 days of this issue of Linn's will bring you the name of this publication.

Airport dedications are historical events. These items too receive cachets in many instances. It must be remembered that this type of cover must be a flown item, that is, a cover bearing the airmail rate in use at the time of the dedication. An envelope with a dedication cachet which has the surface mail rate does not come within the scope of this material.

To obtain dedication material you must consult newspapers of nearby cities or towns. When you read of a new dedication you may try sending some stamped, addressed envelopes to the manager of the airport or perhaps to the Chamber of Commerce of the particular city (the Chamber of Commerce in most cases handles the ceremonies). Of course, if you live near the new airport you may take a few covers down to be autographed and posted.

Jet covers are now making the rounds, however, we caution readers to be on guard when they purchase this material. The official commercial first flights and tests of craft are to be obtained. On the other hand, some of the fancy items we have seen to unofficial points are in doubt.

We have seen several jet covers franked with a non-airmail rate showing first flight markings, including a U.S. Antarctic cover with a 3c stamp and full jet markings. This type of material may be bogus, therefore, learn the postal rates of the various lands which interest you. First make sure the cover has the "flown" rate as we know not many postal authorities will permit surface rates to be flown airmail.

Several readers have asked, "How can I obtain ALL first flights?" We can only say that obtaining all the new issues of the world is tame as compared to obtaining "all" first flights. There are almost countless first or special flights taking place daily in all parts of the globe. It would cost a fantastic amount of money to obtain even a fraction of them.

The cryptic fact is that a first from one country to another may be repeated by many lines. For example, the infant country of Israel had FF's to New York in 1950 (El Al), 1954 (TWA), 1957 (Air France), and 1957 (TWA), and still 1957, (El Al). In fact, this is not a complete listing.

Readers must remember that a line can carry first flight mail when it uses a new type of plane, or perhaps when a new route is scheduled with a leg in a city which already has been covered. Or, a line may carry a "VIP" (Prince, King, State Department official) many, many times to a given city on various dates — all of this material is subject to philatelic treatment.

So when a collector shows you a FF from one city to another always remember the fact that many dates before as well as many dates after could see a first to the same point via various other lines, type of craft, or occasion. Some countries as the U. S., Japan and Germany even had special firsts in the past on "night flights", however, these items truly are not of great philatelic importance.

Also, lines operate via a timetable. In some cases when they change a timetable along comes a new set of first flights. Again, many prewar covers (World War II) have sister first flights which came into being when the line began operation after the war.

This phase of flight collecting has puzzled many collectors but it must be remembered that many lines use flight covers merely as publicity promotion for their routes, souve-

TWENTY YEARS OF LEADERSHIP

ARTCRAFT ENGRAVINGS

FOR THE COMING ISSUES IN 1959

Twenty years of continuous leadership comes by no accident. It is always the result of hard work and positive values which people soon begin to recognize and to which they must react. Thus it is, with meaning, that more people use ARTCRAFT ENGRAVINGS than any other brand of cacheted covers in the world.

If you are one of the very few collectors who have not yet had the pleasure of seeing these fine gravure engraved originals, why not NOW... the beginning of the New Year 1959... try some of those listed below. Join the swing to the leader — the TWENTY YEAR leader — ARTCRAFT ENGRAVINGS. You'll be glad you did!

On Collecting "First Airs" Of The World; Large Variety Available On Low Investment

Robert W. Murch

It all started on May 20, 1917 when the Italian government had an airplane, several bags of letters and newspapers, and the desire to inaugurate an airmail route between Turin and Rome. The postage fee for flying machine mail was set at 25 centesimi per letter, so, accordingly 200,000 of the 25c red King Victor Emmanuel design special delivery stamps were overprinted "Esperimento Posta Aerea-Maggio 1917 - Torino-Roma - Torino."

This stamp thus became the world's first airmail stamp to be issued by a governmental postal administration and specifically designated to prepay an airmail postage rate. In the forty years since that day in May of 1917 approximately 7500 different airmail stamps have been issued by over 165 countries or governments.

A complete collection of the airmail stamps of the world perhaps never did or never will exist, but a truly representative and historically interesting collection of such stamps can be assembled and written up by the average collector possessed of imagination and patience. Such a collection would consist of one copy of the first airmail stamp to be issued by each country in the world.

Chronologically such a collection would start in 1917 and run down to the present year 1958. Historically, such a collection would depict the growth, history, and progress of aviation as well as the development of the world's airmail services. Philatelically, at first glance, the problem and expense of obtaining the first air mail stamp from each country, in effect the aerial classic of a given country, would seem to be discouraging to the average collector.

A quick survey of Scott's or Sanabria's catalog, however, will indicate that 40 years of airmail stamps can be collected for a very nominal sum if but one copy of each country's first issue is collected. For the purpose of statistics and to illustrate the collecting possibilities of the first airmail issues, catalog values from Scott's Catalogue were used with occasional references to the specialized Sanabria Air Post Catalogue.

Scott identifies most of the first airmail stamps by country, by the classification C1, however, the C1 issue of a given country is not always the very first airmail stamp issued. Hence, this C1 designation by Scott is not always accurate chronologically speaking. The best case in point is the first United States airmail stamp, the 24c red and blue of 1918 which Scott lists as USA C3.

The C1 and C2 designations are given to the 6c and 16c stamps of the same design which were issued six and two months after the 24c first issue respectively.

The very first airmail stamps of the following countries bear the following designators and actually constitute the first airmails of the respective countries and should be included in any collection of "first airmails!"

USA C3, Canal Zone C2, India C2, Ireland C2, Haiti C2, Nicaragua C2, Salvador C3, Bulgaria C4, China (Sinkiang Issue) C3, French Morocco C4, Luxembourg C2, Liberia C3, and Switzerland C2. Specialists may spot a few more to add to this list.

In most instances Sanabria's No. 1 designation is also correct as a country's first airmail issue, but there are exceptions to this designation as well.

For compilation purposes the first airmail stamps of 165 different countries or governments have been used as a basis. Excluded have been such controversial countries, issues, or geographical oddities as Indonesia, Tannou Touva, Lundy Island, obscure occupational zones of World War II, and some of the off-shore islands and districts producing philatelic wallpaper during the 1936-1937 Spanish Civil War. Also excluded are "Air Fee" or airmail stamps issued by private airlines, so called "semiofficial" issues or out and out "phantom" airmails from the South Moluccas or self-styled Governments-In-Exile. Most of these are not listed by the Scott Catalog, while the Sanabria listing does include semiofficial airmail stamps as well as many others with aviation designs which are not specifically intended for airmail usage.

Of the 165 "first" air mail issues by country, 1917-1957, the catalog values are listed as follows, based on single used copies:

Cat. per stamp,	Number of less than 50c (107)	Per Cent of 165 Total
$1 (16)	123	75%
$3 (13)	136	82%
$5 (9)	145	88%
$10 (10)	155	94%
$20 (3)	158	96%
$100 (3)	161	98%
over $100 (4)	165	100%

The conclusion is that for a collector of modest means, a collection 94% complete of the first airmail issues of the countries of the world

Paris, London and Rome soon by BOAC and Pan American, and across the U.S. by American Airlines 707 jet flagships in 4 1/2 hours by about January 14, jets have started conquering time and space. The rest of the triumph will take place fast.

In the monthly Airpost Journal of the American Air Mail Society members find information on jet covers and jet flights, past and future. Here a collector has his chance to tell the story of his covers. No other field of aerophilately can offer with the thrill awaiting the collector when he gets his first, or hundredth—or thousandth—jet cover.

Yes, there is a great future in the jet game, but it is not all ahead. Some room for research and discoveries remains — for instance, there is a photo making the rounds which shows a sack of mail being loaded into our first P-59 during the war. No one seems to know what these covers look like, where even a single one is now, or what happened to them.

Thus is a problem posed, and if any reader knows anything about the solution, a note from him would be indeed appreciated. Similarly, the entire organization of the American Air Mail Society asks, offers and exchanges information and assistance, in the knowledge that when one member profits, all profit.

Whatever may be a given collector's interests in the entire airmail field, whatever his problem therein, membership in the AAMS will afford him friendship, sympathy and assistance in his quest. It's been that way for the entire 35 years of the Society's existence.

Long held in slight regard, the 15c "map" airmail of September 18, 1926 has suddenly shown itself to be tough hunting on cover, either first day or, especially, properly used for the 1000-1500 miles zone of late 1926 and early 1927.

Finding 15c Map Airmail On "Right" Cover Is Big Challenge

Robert W. Murch
Issued on September 18, 1926, the popular 15c olive brown United States map airmail stamp is very difficult to find on a properly dated and flown cover. Actually, most of the flown copies of this stamp are to be found on first day covers—and a recent polling of a dozen FDC dealers indicated that only two of them had first day covers of this item available.
The 15c rate of 1926 carried a one ounce airmail letter over a contract (CAM) airmail route of 1000 to 1500 miles, from September 18, 1926 to February 1, 1927. During that period very few airmail routes over 1000 miles were in operation.
On February 1, 1927 the air rate became 10c per 1/2 ounce for any distance and the 15c value was relegated to use in later years for other rate combinations only. Properly used on a flown cover dated between September 18, 1926 and January 31, 1927 and so addressed as to indicate an airmail routing of over 1000 miles, the 15c No. C8 is a really scarce item to find. Try it, but the odds are against you!

Summerfield Urges Alaska FDC Mailings

Collectors who have not as yet sent requests for first day covers of the 7c Alaska Statehood airmail stamp to Juneau, Alaska, are urged to do so immediately, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield said in a recent interview.
"The actual issuance date of this stamp can not yet be announced as it is dependent upon procedures to be followed before a Presidential Statehood Proclamation can be made," he continued, "but the Department is already interested in satisfactorily handling the first day covers involved."
On October 11 and again on November 15 collectors were urged to start their requests for these first day covers on the way to Juneau.
Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send addressed envelopes to the Postmaster, Juneau, Alaska, accompanied with remittances to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed. An enclosure of medium weight should be placed in each envelope and the flap either turned in or sealed. The outside envelope to the postmaster should be endorsed "First Day Covers Alaska Statehood Stamp - Hold For release".

Fancy Folder For New Subscriptions

For the 10th annual ASDA National Postage Stamp Show in New York City last November Linn's Weekly Stamp News prepared a souvenir folder which was given with each new subscription. This was in tribute to the show and the first day of issue of the new 7c stamped airmail envelope released there on November 21.
The folder was more popular than original production estimates thought it would be. It has since been reprinted exactly as the first lot and is now available to all.
The souvenir folder is of four sides. On an inner one are spaces for two of the 7c airmail envelopes. These can be a mint and a FDC, or FDC's with hand and machine cancels, or whatever the owner desires.
On the front and back, and the other inside page, are cartoons as much as 200 years old, depicting humorous and practical aeronautics.
One of the souvenir folders will be given free, postpaid, with each new subscription to Linn's Weekly Stamp News, as long as the current supply lasts. Send the name of the new subscriber, payment ($1.50 per year in the U. S.; $2 Canada; $3 Foreign), and request the folder.

Meter Group's "Last Call" Before Rate Hike

Henry O. Meisel, president of the American Metered Postage Society, has announced that the first of the year will bring a necessary increase in the present membership fee of the organization.
Collectors interested in this field of philately will still be accepted at the old rate if they act immediately, Mr. Meisel stated, adding that all such enthusiasts should advise him of their intentions at once. His address is Clintonville, Wis.

SPECIAL EDITIONS

Various dealers might want to time some of their advertising to appear in conjunction with the special editions of Linn's Weekly Stamp News sponsored by different specialist groups. These editions are always the last one of each month and contain a splendid amount of information about the particular country or specialty.
The next four editions of a special nature are as follows:—
Jan. 26 — Italy Stamp Group.
Feb. 23 — Masonic Stamp Club.
Mar. 30 — Philatelic Foundation.
Apr. 27 — Women's International Stamp Club.
Further inquiries can be directed to this paper by interested dealers.
Clubs or societies agreeable to sponsoring a special edition can get the details on request.

Ireland Notes 21st Year Of Constitution

The special stamps to mark the 21st anniversary of the coming into operation of the Constitution of Ireland, to be issued December 29, will be in two denominations, 3d Rembrandt brown, and 5d green. They will be in double size, surface printed by the Government Printing Press, Dublin, on paper watermarked with the letter "E". Perforations are 15 x 14, according to the news release of the Eire Department of Posts and Telegraphs.
The symbolical design is a reissue of the 1937 Constitution stamp. It shows Eire, represented as a young woman, seated and with her right hand resting on a harp, having just written the first words of the Preamble to the Constitution "In Aímn na Tríonóide Ro-Naomhtha" (In the Name of the Most Holy Trinity). The words "Bunreacht na hEireann" (Constitution of Ireland) appear across the bottom of the stamp between the figures representing the denomination.

First day canceling services are being provided, but no official FDC's are offered, nor is the POD supplying or addressing covers for collectors.

Black Hills Club Names Officers For New Year

The following officers were named at the recent election of the Black Hills Stamp Club, Rapid City, S. D.: president, Fred Jelsema; vice president, Fred Jelsema; and secretary-treasurer, W. J. Danley, 227 E. Flormann, Rapid City, S. D.
The group meets on the second Tuesday and the Wednesday after the fourth Tuesday of each month. The Junior members meet on the first and third Saturdays of every month. Anyone visiting the Black Hills Area is invited to attend these meetings. The meeting place and time can be obtained from the secretary, as the club does not have a permanent meeting site.

On Board Cachets On Two January Cruises

Special cachets have been designed for two Swedish American Line cruises leaving New York in January 1959. The Royal Swedish Post Office has issued these for the Kungsholm Cruise to the Far East and the South Sea Isles, January 10, and for the Gripsholm Cruise Around Africa, January 26.

The cachets will be affixed to mail with Swedish stamps posted on board ships during the cruises and will undoubtedly add an interesting philatelic touch to postcards and letters mailed from the vessels. The service will be particularly appealing to collectors, or to friends of collectors, making the cruises, a spokesman for the line stated.

NIELSEN'S
STAMP STORE

Brooklyn 9, N. Y.

Why Crash Covers? Each such item is a marker of another step forward in the progress of air transport—and the safety thereof. The water soaked, stained object above bespeaks the February 22, 1943 crash in Lisbon harbor of Pan Am's "Yankee Clipper" which brought death to 24 of the 39 USO performers aboard, injuries to most of the rest, and personal romances to some of them.

Planes Have To Crash--But Why Collect Crash Covers?

Joseph L. Eisendrath, Jr.

Many, many times we've been asked, "Why do you collect crash covers? It seems so gruesome and macabre!" That's a real tough question to answer—but then one could be collecting something else—like cigar bands or rock crystals or a topical stamp collection on eagles.

Everyone will admit to succumbing to the fascination of gathering some kind of collection—to the joy of overcoming the difficulties attendant to acquiring rare parts of it—to the pride and satisfaction of having completed or nearly completed a somewhat impossible task.

It isn't the envy of someone oohing and ahing when others see what has been done — it's the thrill of the chase, the accomplishment of the unusual, and quite often the satisfaction of pecuniary appreciation of what has been put together.

So, therefore, we collect crash covers, envelopes recovered from airplane wrecks and from interrupted flights, where the mail was either forwarded to the addressee or returned to the sender if it couldn't be delivered.

And where does one get these covers? Well, when a fellow becomes an old "pro" (our standing got its beginning in 1929), they just seem to find their way to him. He is remembered as a collector of such items and people — dealers especially — send things along.

Often he makes a raid of the wastebasket of a downtown bank or a company that could have received such mail from the crash yesterday coming in the direction of his city. Then they pop up at auctions, other collectors will trade them and, occasionally, a classified ad in a paper will produce covers.

A year or so ago a plane carrying Christmas mail crashed at Jacksonville, Fla. Immediately advertising in a Miami paper brought 43 offers! More often the hunter draws a blank, or at best, only one or two. Then a TV or radio appearance may attract people who have something of interest. Even this little story in Linn's may produce one or two!

Five or six new covers a year is par for the course. And they don't come easily, either. We just acquired one from a Canadian dealer that we knew existed although none had come to collectors' hands. That accident happened 15 years ago!

Here's one way we obtained a letter recovered from the crash of two planes over the Grand Canyon not too long ago: A collector friend sent a clipping from a St. Louis paper giving names of four recipients there. A letter to each resulted in the acquisition of a cover, and the lady wrote that the money paid to her would be used for mass for the crash victims. Both planes carried mail but only 187 pieces from one plane were recovered. Five are known to be in collectors' hands.

Our first cover was sent to us by a friend on the first mail flight between Atlanta and Miami in 1929. The plane plunged into the Halifax River at Daytona Beach and sank. All mail was recovered and dried in a steam laundry. Most show evidences of watersoaking. They're not rare (we own no less than 21) but that started us off.

Over the intervening years we have acquired collections or parts of collections started by others and are constantly looking for more. The American Air Mail catalogue recognizes somewhat over three hundred listable accidents; we lack about 50 for completion, and never expect to complete the list.

For the American Air Mail Society Convention last spring at Philadelphia we decided to exhibit a cover from each year since our government started flying mail in 1918. That meant 41 covers, and we were surprised to be able to find one for each year.

The history of the development of aviation ties up closely with such a collection. At the beginning there were few flights — and not many crashes. In the late twenties there was a sharp increase in interest in flying — many new routes opened up, more and more planes were manufactured — and, proportionately, more accidents.

Then the big airliners began coming off the production line. They mands a premium price.

One cover was on a plane bound from Chile to the U. S. The plane was lost and three years later was found high in the Andes of Peru with the mail intact. We also own a cover from this crash that came from the Roosevelt collection.

Then there's the watersoaked letter from Alaska. Flying on a "Star Route" the owner of a gold mine at Lucky Shot submerged his plane when it landed on the water at its destination, Anchorage. Cargo — one gold brick and seven letters. We acquired two of these within a few months, one from a dealer in Texas, the other from a friend in New England.

Then we have three letters addressed to a man at Trinidad, B. W. I. They came in separately. No clippings or information being available, we wrote to the sender of one of them, a lady in Tulsa, Okla. She wrote back at once, to say that her brother, to whom the letter was written, was visiting her, that he was shown our letter, and remembered the incident. But how did we get three of his letters, as he always destroyed his mail?

Then the cover on the Hindenburg when it blew up — only about 233 were recovered and forwarded, each to be signed for by the recipient. For years the foreign section of the New York City postoffice kept this list. It was easy, therefore, to check if a cover was genuine.

Many were and still are being faked. We acquired ours via the auction route. A well-known zeppelin collection was being broken up and this was in it. Only yesterday we made an offer on three more that we feel are genuine and expect to acquire.

Maurice Graham left California eastbound with his plane on January 10, 1930 and disappeared. His plane was discovered the following June high in the mountains of Utah — and a month later his body with the mail was found a few miles away. The mail went through!

We could go on and on — the first crash cover we have was from a balloon that escaped from Paris at the time of its siege by the Germans in 1870. It landed near the North Sea in Denmark and its cargo of mail was delivered. The last cover was from the airliner that was hit by the jet over Las Vegas, Nevada last April.

Other people collect accident covers, too — ships, trains, street cars; mail chute fires, holdups and robberies, pneumatic tubes, mail truck crashes and what have you. We have some of these but our main interest is plane accident covers.

Gory, you say? No, we reiterate—fascinating and challenging.

LINDBERGH

"The Spirit of St. Louis"
After his epoch-making flight to Paris in May of 1927, Lindbergh made a "Good Will" tour of the Pan-American nations later that year and early in 1928. Previous to this time, no mail was ever officially flown in the "Spirit of St. Louis." However, on February 6 and 7, 1928, mail was flown by Lindbergh between Dominican Republic, Haiti, and Havana.
This is the only mail ever officially carried in the "Spirit of St. Louis." These three covers bear an official cachet as authorized by the postal authorities, and less than 2,000 were flown from each point. We still have a few of these covers, price $3.50 each, or the three for $9.50. GUARANTEED.

A mere 27 years ago it took Cecil Allen and Don Moyle 29 days to fight their way by "easy" stages from Japan to Seattle, Wash., hugging the coast lines and Aleutians as closely as possible. Jet passengers will soon be duplicating the journey in armchair comfort and in half as many hours instead of days.

Kitty Hawk, N. C. Within the short span of eight years, visionary men in the United States Post Office Department began to foresee a new method by which the mail could be transported more rapidly — by air. Thus, from 1911 through 1916, there came the "Pioneer Period" during which early fliers carried small quantities of first-class mail from temporary postal stations established in connection with fairs, carnivals and aviation meets. Many of the flights which were usually authorized by the postal authorities in Washington were assigned official route numbers.

The first in this group is known as the Garden City. During the International Aviation Tournament held at the Airdrome on Nassau Blvd., Garden City, N. Y. September 23-October 1, 1911, daily airmail flights were made from Garden City to Mineola, Long Island, N. Y.

Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock named Earl Ovington as the first official airmail pilot, and he carried the first official airmail of this meet. The mailed covers and cards carried during each day of the meet, with the exception of September 29 and October 1, on which days no flights were made, bear a specially designed postmark, descriptive of the place at which the flight emanated. In all, 43,247 covers and cards were carried during the meet.

The current American Air Mail Catalogue lists nearly ninety flights in this pioneer group which have been discovered and recorded. Each bears either a distinctive postmark or cachet as an identifiable marking for the mail.

Harry A. Truby of New Kensington, Pa., is an outstanding authority on this particular field of aerophilately. Others who own excellent collections of these pioneer events are Robert M. Murch, St. Louis, Mo.; Harold Dermody, Cicero, Ill.; Erik Hildesheim, Fairfield, Conn.; and Thomas J. O'Sullivan, Orange, Conn.

About 1918 the government began experimenting with the development of regular airmail routes for the carrying of mail. Those flights made under the auspices of the Signal Corps of the Army and the Post Office Department and other federal bureaus which blazed the path for subsequent commercial airmail routes within the boundaries of the United States are known as Governmental Flight Covers.

In this group mainly are flights made from 1918 through 1926, and also certain later government authorized flights not included in regular route authorizations.

The inauguration of the first regular airmail route was on May 15, 1918. It consisted of a series of first flights between Washington, Philadelphia and New York and return. These flights also mark the first use of the 24c blue and red airmail stamp of the United States.

From 1918 thru 1926 experimental flights were made to nearly all major cities of the country and in 1924 the first transcontinental route from New York to San Francisco was established. Covers flown on each of the over 157 various routes bear special markings either by special postmarks or cachets.

The late Karl Weber of Pittsburgh, Pa., was the outstanding authority and historian for the Governmental Period. He compiled an exhaustive treatise on these covers which has been appearing in installments in The Airpost Journal.

The Post Office Department in 1926 decided the time had arrived to foster further development of airmail thru private enterprise and to contract with private operators for such transportation. The first contracts were let to the Ford Motor Co. and designated as CAM Routes 6 and 7, over which service was inaugurated February 15, 1926.

Thus was created a new branch of aerophilately to be known as United States Contract Air Mail Routes or CAM's. Collected in this group are the covers carried on the first flight over a contract route which has been mapped out by the Post Office Department and the Federal Civil Aeronautics Authority.

In most instances each cover bears a special cachet provided and applied by the POD, thus making these covers identifiable. Literally hundreds of routes have been established from 1926 to the present time and as the airmail service continues to spread to nearly every city in the country there still are new routes being started and new covers being carried which provide a documented historical record of the development of the transportation of mail by air.

The inauguration of airmail service has been a major historical event in every city served by the United States airlines. One of the outstanding collectors of CAM covers was the late Charles G. Riess, Albany, N. Y. Others are L. B. Gatchell, Upper Montclair, N. J.; Perham C. Nahl, Evanston, Ill.; James A. McNally, Jersey City, N. J.; William Ware, Malden, Mo.

The expansion in the use of the airplane to carry mail naturally resulted in the development of airmail routes from the United States to other countries, until as we know now, the entire world is bound together by air routes to every country on the face of the earth. Those covers which are carried on an inaugural flight from the USA to any point outside thereof, are known as United States Foreign Contract Air Mail Routes of FAM covers.

As previously indicated only those flights which are authorized by the POD and the Aeronautical Authority are considered authentic. Early established routes were FAM4 from Key West to Havana and return, November 1, 1920; FAM2 Seattle to Victoria, Canada, October 15, 1920; and FAM1 New York to Montreal, Canada, October 1, 1928.

In 1929 and 1930 came the beginning of the vast network of air routes to the West Indies, Central America and South America. The year 1935 saw the extension of our air routes westward across the Pacific to Guam, Manila, and Hong Kong. The flying of the North Atlantic began in 1939 and thus the United States, Europe and Africa were provided with air lanes for carrying the mail.

All the first flight covers bear special cachets commemorating the establishment of these flights. A collection of such FAM covers is the documentary record of the expansion of our already vast system of air transportation of the mail. The record of this progress is still being developed and expanded as is noted by the recent establishment of Jet Service by Pan American World Airways from New York to Paris and return.

The leading authority in this country on FAM covers is Richard L. Singley of Lancaster, Pa. Others prominent in this field are Albert N. Brown, San Francisco; George S. Chapman, El Centro, Calif.; L. Dean Powell, Ocean City, Md.; Basil L. Rowe, a PAA early pilot, Miami, Fla.; L. B. Gatchell; and Frank Blumenthal, Washington, D. C.

The fascination and attractiveness of mint and used airmail stamps, officials and semiofficials is generally acknowledged by the entire hobby. Its prominence can be attested to by the many top and grand awards which have been given to airmail stamp collections which have been assembled by Mrs. Louise S. Hoffman, New York; Thomas S. Matthews, Springfield, Ohio; Dr. James Matejka, Jr., Chicago, Ill.; and many others.

One of the newer phases of aerophilately is the collecting of air-letter sheets and aerograms. These sheets are the result of the use of airgraphs and V-mail during the last world war. They provide the cheapest form of air communication among the countries of the world, the usual fee being 10c to any place on the globe.

Many countries provide these air-letter sheets as a part of their postal stationery. Each is franked with either a stamp or some marking stipulated by the issuing country. Many impressive collections of these aerograms have been made. Prominent are those of R. L. Singley, Lancaster, Pa.; L. B. Gatchell; Clayton J. Goodpastor, Auburn, Calif.; Emmett Peter, Leesburg, Fla.; and "Mike" Hoffman, New York City.

In October 1931 the American Air Mail Society began the publication of the Airpost Journal, a monthly magazine devoted strictly to aerophilately. This publication has continued each month to the present time. During these years, it has had only three editors, L. B. Gatchell, Walter J. Conrath and the present editor, Joseph L. Eisendrath Jr.

Reporting just a few of the early interesting occurrences during this nearly 30 years, it is recalled that in 1931 the AAMS Convention was held in Washington, D. C. The convention picture was taken with President Herbert C. Hoover. The banquet speaker was W. Irving Glover, Postmaster General and an early and real friend of the collector in the Post Office Department. One of the feature convention speakers was Walter Hinton, the famous Navy flier of oceanic flight fame.

The immediate years before and after 1931 were a period of many record making long distance flights across the oceans, and among them were the Herndon-Pangborn flight from Japan to America, the Boardman-Polando flight from U.S. to Turkey, the Von Gronau from Germany to Chicago, and the Balbo Squadron from Italy to South America.

In 1932 the AAMS sponsored one of the early all-airmail exhibitions, at Cleveland, Ohio during its annual convention. Among the highlights of this exhibition were the three letters carried by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on his solo flight across the Atlantic, then the property of the son of the late Ambassador Myron Herrick.

Prominent exhibits included zepelin and dirigible covers, crash covers, airmail stamps, and Lindbergh covers, as well as the various other types of airmail collecting previously mentioned.

As early as 1934 the U. S. Post Office Department complimented the American Air Mail Society Convention held in Chicago, Ill. by releasing the new 16c airmail special delivery stamp on August 30, during the convention.

The American Air Mail Society as early as 1935 was undertaking the publication of handbooks to serve as guides or catalogs for collectors. The 1940 edition of the American Air Mail Catalogue was the first full scale volume covering most of the field of aerophilately not included in other catalog publications.

Yearly supplements were published, and in 1947 and in 1950 two new volumes appeared, the material being so voluminous that one volume could no longer contain it. Ready for publication in late 1958 is Volume Three which will bring up to date many of the sections contained in the first two volumes.

Suffice it to add here that since 1923 the American Air Mail Society has been the largest and leading organization in the field of aerophilately. Its sole objective has been the protection, betterment, and growth of our particular field of airmail stamp and cover collecting. Aerophilately is established as a major segment in the field of philately, and its many phases provide ample opportunities for every collector.

The FAM Story -- Romance Of Clippers That Sailed, Then
Flew, Now On Wings Of Jets

Frank Blumenthal

One major, and very interesting, section of the American Air Mail Catalogue published by the American Air Mail Society is that on the Foreign Air Mail routes flown under contract—the FAM's. Even a casual perusal of that section discloses an extensive picture of the development and expansion of this area of our airmail progress.It is just over thirty years since the first plane of an American airline left the shores of the North American continent to launch an official, regular airmail service across a body of water. This flight, spanning a mere 90 miles from Key West, Fla., to Havana, Cuba was followed closely by land flights to Mexican
and Central American points not far from American shores and involving relatively short hops over water.The history of the dramatic and phenomenal growth of international airmail since those early days as American planes gradually pushed
their way across the seven seas and around the globe can be depicted in
no better fashion than by a collection
of first flight foreign air mail
(FAM) covers.Such a collection need not be anything like complete; on the contrary, a representative collection
consisting only of "milestone" covers from each route, or merely the major routes, adequately gives a vivid picture of the development of the FAM system. This is more so in view of the fact that no adequate
history of FAM's has ever been written.Altogether there have been 32 such routes flown at one time or another,
but over the years some of them
have been absorbed into others. A few withered because their functions
were being performed by other routes, or because they were found
not practicable.Some of them served only one of our territories or possessions or even Canada, and are for most practical purposes no longer considered
"foreign" when served by an airline whose major operations are purely domestic. Four route numbers (11, 13, 23, 25) were, inexplicably, never assigned to any service.At the present time there are seven principal routes in active service,
but this number does not include
those to Mexico, Cuba, Canada, Alaska, and nearby island groups which go no farther. It should be noted that an FAM route carrier must be an American airline—covers carried by foreign airlines to or from American territory are not included in the FAM category.While most collectors find it best to collect FAM's by route groups
rather than chronologically, the development of foreign airmail service
has been marked by several significant epochs. Although the Key West-Havana flight in 1927 — actually a resumption of a short-lived experimental service in 1920 — was attended by much fanfare, the real
penetration of Central and South America did not start until 1929.In the next two or three years
most of this territory was added to the routes, although piecemeal.
These routes were numbered 5, 6, 8, 9 and 10. The next major milestone was the conquest of the North Pacific beginning in 1935, but it was not until two years later that the route (FAM 14) reached Hong Kong
on the Asian mainland. It was left for FAM 19 to travel the South Pacific to Australia in 1940.Service across the Atlantic was started by Pan American Airways
in 1939 (route 18) while it was not until after World War II that the other major carriers, American Overseas Airlines and Trans World Airlines, started spanning this ocean.In 1946 Northwest Airlines commenced operations over FAM 28 via
the Pacific and reached China and other Far Eastern points a year later.
The year 1947 also marked the joining of Pan American's two major ocean routes, 14 and 18, at Calcutta
to form the first round-the-world service by an American carrier.In the last ten years there have been numerous additions to existing
routes, and while no extensive flights
have been inaugurated, there have been new routes, such as the two to Mexico started only last year (1957).A few historical notes on each of the seven major routes now in operation will give an insight into the complexity of the FAM system and the many interesting phases which will intrigue the collector of one,
some, or all routes:FAM 5, Pan American Airways,
covers all Central and eastern South America. This route was not quite the "firstest" of the pioneer FAM's
but it was the "mostest". Unlike most other major routes, most foreign countries on the route utilized
it for the bulk of their mail, since
they had no airlines of their own,
and each inaugural produced a large number of covers in all directions.
The 1929 first flight from Miami to Cristobal, Canal Zone was madeby Charles A. Lindbergh, who was to pilot several other inaugurals on this and other Latin American routes. It took two days.The South American mainland was reached on this route a year later
and the "Circle" with route 6 (a southeastern path via the Caribbean
islands) was completed at Venezuela a year later. In 1946 the various Central and South American routes
flown by Pan American were consolidated with route 5, and today
there is much criss-crossing between what used to be the separate routes.FAM 9, Panagra, flies from the Canal Zone to Argentina down the west coast of South America. Connecting with route 5 coming from Miami, this route managed to carry mail all the way down the coast to Buenos Aires within less than a year
of its start in 1929, a considerable feat for this early period.After further extension to Uruguay
and the addition of a few points, it was considered complete. It operates today over substantially the same airspace as it did almost 30 years ago.F.A.M. 14, Pan American, Western U. S. to India via the Pacific. This route was serving Hawaii, Guam, Manila, and Hong Kong before the same carrier started spanning the Atlantic. After the war the route was extended to its terminus at Calcutta, India, where it joins with FAM 18 planes arriving from eastern U. S. points via Europe.Since route 14 flies largely over the Pacific, it can not compete with 18 for the number of collectable covers. It now includes route 19 from California to Australia.F.A.M. 18, Pan American, U. S. to India via the Atlantic. Probably more mail and passengers fly this route than any other in the world of equal length. Inaugurated just before the war broke out in Europe, it was quickly developed after the cessation of hostilities so that it was soon
able to join forces with route 14.
Since that time there have been numerous first flights from the five eastern U. S. terminal cities to the various European and Asian cities
on the route.Finally came the "polar route"
from the west coast to Europe in 1957. American Overseas Airlines' route 24 was absorbed into the 18
system in 1950 after five years' operations.F.A.M. 27, Trans World Airlines, U. S. to Europe and Asia. This route
was developed from a comparatively short service to Egypt (with five stops) in 1946 to a comprehensive trans-European and Asian service
stretching all the way to Manila in the Philippines this year.Collectable items from this route
are legion, due to the large number
of cities served not only abroad,
but also in the U. S. where eight cities have dispatched mail. TWA is the only U. S. carrier to serve most of North Africa, and is one of two using the "polar route" from our
west coast of Europe.F.A.M. 28, Northwest Airlines, western U. S. to Far East. When this route was launched in 1946 with service to Alaska, its importance
in trans-Pacific aviation could not have been foreseen. Eventually the route reached Manila and the Chinese mainland, Korea, Japan, Okinawa, and Formosa. Changes had to be made to adjust to the fall of Shanghai to the Chinese Reds and to the vagaries of the war in Korea.It is now the shortest route to Japan, flying over the short Great Circle route. Covers from the Korea
and Okinawa inaugurals are among the most interesting and scarcest of all FAM's.FAM 34, Braniff Airways, Southern U. S. to South America. Braniff, a domestic carrier since 1928,
entered the FAM field in 1947 with a far-flung route starting at Houston and now extending as far as Buenos Aires. At first only half of the route was serviced; later it was pushed south to La Paz, Bolivia, and then to Rio de Janeiro.Finally in 1950 it branched off to the alternate terminal of Buenos Aires. At present most of its flights start at Miami where passengers
and mail arrive from the North in planes operated by Eastern Airlines.
Bogota in Colombia was inaugurated
in 1957 as a terminal for some flights.One of the chief fascinations of FAM collecting, it should be obvious
from the above summaries of the various routes, is the amount of geographical exploration the collector can and must do in his Atlas orand future flights intelligently. While most airline schedules contain maps
showing their services, many collectors prepare their own.It adds immeasurably to their value and interest if they show the growth and progress of each route.
And to illustrate each route map
with a selection of first flight covers,
with their colorful American and
foreign stamps and cachets, as well
as their various postmarks on both
front and back, lends an air of reality and authenticity to the entire collection.Yes, there is plenty of drama in collecting first flight covers. Basically it is a first-hand course in the history of the development of our airline system across the world's oceans and continents. While the collector is extremely lucky who has been able to send his own covers
as the FAM routes have been gradually extended farther and farther
from American shores, the novice
starting out now is still in an excellent position to build up an attractive and representative collection of covers illustrating all the principle segments as they were added to each of the main FAM
routes.Such covers are usually fairly common and can be secured at low prices through auction sales and similar sources, or by trading other types of philatelic material. Most of the leading items — those with cachets and well publicized in advance of the first flight — are available at relatively low cost.It is still true that many FAM covers have no cachets because the flights were made unannounced or
on very short notice, or because
point-to-point coverage is often considered of little importance to collectors. These covers are usually relatively rare, lack the dramatic interest of their more common cacheted fellows, and are sought after only by true specialists. They do, nevertheless, demonstrate the persistent progress toward complete air service on a particular route.As for the future, there is still plenty of life left in the old gal
"FAM collecting". Most of the territory behind the Iron Curtain has not yet been reached by U. S. airlines and, one way or another, sooner or later, will be. There are a number of large cities and countries
in the various parts of the free world
which have not yet been serviced.
For some of these the airlines already have authorization but haveder to keep track of past, present
not yet completed preparations.THESE PRICES ARE NOT

Identifying Aid Offered By AAMS

Linn's readers with unusual air-
mail or first flight covers and air-mail stamps they are unable to identify or catalog are encouraged to have such items properly classified by the editorial staff of the
"AIR POST JOURNAL", the monthly magazine of the American Air Mail Society.

Through the years, from the 1870
Paris Balloon Posts to the present 1958 Jet air mail flights, practically every significant aerial flight has carried some form of airmail or souvenir flown cover. These are listed and priced in the world's airmail
catalogs, some of which are not readily available to the average collector.

Leading the list of any airmail
library are the American Air Mail Society Catalogs of 1940, the revised editions of 1947 and 1950, and the present 1958 volume. In addition to the Scott and Minkus World Catalogs,
the Sanabria Airmail Catalogs are
the most valuable to the airmail collector. Sanabria lists all regular air-mails, semi-official and airline
stamps, airmail postal stationery,
air essays and proofs, and related
aerophilatelic items.

Available for reference are the 1930-31 Dworak Specialized Catalogs
of Airmail Covers; the Standard Air
Post Catalogs of 1930-31-33-34; Champion's Airmail Catalogs; and Silom-
bra, the standard French catalog.
Also D. Field's Catalog of the World
Air Posts; the handbooks and catalogs published by Francis J. Field, Ltd., aerophilatelicists of England;
and the various German Zeppelin
Post handbooks.

Any collector with a "problem"
stamp or cover he can not catalog
or identify is invited to consult the AAMS experts by following this plan:

For covers, send brief description,
including a), town and date of postmark; b), town and date of backstamp(s) if any; c), description or tracing of cachet or rubber stamp markings; d), description of franking, and e), name and address of person to whom directed.

For stamps, air labels and such material, send description, including a), design or tracing of same;
b), color(s), and c), full listing
of all wording and lettering.

With the above information, 99%
of all such items can be cataloged
and reported after checking the AAMS reference files. Collectors
must not send the actual stamps
or covers; they must enclose stamped reply envelopes. All inquiries for this service should be sent to Robert
W. Murch, c/o Air Post Journal
Staff, 718 Locust St., St. Louis 1, Mo.

Vatican Planning Regulars, Commems

Those who collect the stamps of Vatican City will be pleased to learn that a new regular issue is in the making for 1959. According to the Vatican Philatelic Society this could be the long-expected "Stations of the Cross" series. The postal administration of this world's smallest state is expected to release
the details shortly after the new year begins.

Rumored, but not confirmed, was
the issuance of a set of five for Martyrs of the Church. Also expected was a set of two for the inauguration of service of the new radio broadcasting station of the Vatican. It is located at Santa Maria di Galeria just outside Rome
and was dedicated by the late Pope
Pius XII shortly before his death.
A commemorative for 1959 is to honor the patron saint of an eastern European nation.

VPS president, William Wonne-berger Jr., advises that there are privately prepared items being offered collectors which were not officially made by the Vatican. These are the 5 and 85 Lire denominations of the St. Peter's Basilica series. A heavy black border has been added to the four sides of
each with the claim they are "mourning" stamps. The border is said to be of Italian origin, and illegal since all the stamps of the Basilica series are still usable for postage.

Dixie SOS To Meet In Atlanta To Organize

Southern collectors of Scouts on Stamps will meet on January 17-18
in Atlanta, Ga. to organize a Dixie Chapter of SOS. The meeting will be held in the home of Milton Klein, 2868 Sequoyah Dr. N.W., Atlanta 5,

information about the meeting may be obtained from Mr. Klein. Everyone interested in Scouts on Stamps
is cordially invited to attend.

AAMS Will Co-Sponsor First Day Ceremony And Luncheon For UN 5c, 7c On February 9

President John J. Smith of the American Air Mail Society has announced that the Society has been invited by Reidar Tvedt, Chief, United Nations Postal Administration to jointly sponsor the first day ceremony and luncheon to be held February 9 in connection with the issuance of new UN 5c and 7c airmail stamps.

These two new values are needed because of the August 1 changes of postal rates. The 5c denomination which replaces the 4c will be of the same design but the color will be changed to red.

This particular design was the winner in the UN Postal Administration's stamp design competition
in 1952. It was the work of W. W.
Wind, a Chicago artist. The 7c is an entirely new design created by Olav Mathiesen, of Denmark, a member of the UN Secretariat. The color will be blue.

The first day ceremony will be held in the Exposition Room of the General Assembly Bldg., 45th St.
entrance at 11 a.m. Monday, February 9.

On the program will likely appear David B. Vaughan, Director of the General Service, Igor V. Chechetkin, Chief, Commercial Management Service, and Mr. Tvedt, Chief, Postal Administration, all representing the United Nations. A representative of the United States Post Office Department is expected,
along with Mr. Smith and L. B.
Gatchell representing the American
Air Mail Society, and other distinguished philatelists.

Following the ceremony a 12:30
luncheon will be held in the West
Terrace of the Delegates Dining Area. No speaking program is planned but distinguished guests
will be introduced. All interested collectors are invited. The subscription is $5; reservations must be

President Smith has also issued a call for a regional meeting of the AAMS to be held Sunday, February
8 at the Hotel Lexington, 48th St.
and Lexington Ave. A business session will be held at 3 p.m., followed by a social hour at the hotel.

Any collector wishing to attend
the UN ceremony only can secure
an invitation and credentials card
for admission, for which there is no charge, from Mr. Kingdom. Any further information desired can also be secured from him at his Ohio address.

made by writing George D. Kingdom, P.O. Box 37, Conneaut, Ohio.
Under the editorship of L. B.
Gatchell, the AAMS will produce a special souvenir brochure to commemorate the issuance of these two new airmail stamps. It will be elaborately illustrated and contain
much interesting information concerning UN airmails, along with a mint imprint block of six of each of the new 5c and 7c adhesives.

These attractive folders which will be available to all collectors
are $1.50 each, from Mrs. Ruth T.

New York MACC, Chapter 31 Of Parent AAMS, Carries On With Active, Interesting Program

Harold J. Frankel

Any collector whose likings lean toward airmail covers—jets, helicopters, CAM's, FAM's, rockets, or what-have-you as long as it sprouts wings—should definitely get acquainted with the activities of the Metropolitan Air-Mail Cover Club, Chapter 31 of the American Air Mail Society. For anyone living in the New York area who is thus permitted the advantage of personal contact with the group, this advice becomes almost a "must".

It was in November 1941 that a group of airpost collectors from the New York City area met at a New York YMCA and laid out the plans for an airmail cover club. Much work and time went into laying the groundwork and in June 1942 the Metropolitan Air-Mail Cover Club held its first meeting.

Seventeen years have passed since the group was organized and the two men largely responsible for planning the organization are still present and taking an active role. G. Kaufmann is presently serving on the board of governors and Gus F. Lancaster is corresponding secretary.

By July 1, 1942 the club had 26 charter members enrolled, many of whom are still active members. Since then the Metropolitan Air-Mail Cover Club has continued to grow and the membership number is now over the 500 mark.

This is an active airmail cover club. The dues are small, only $1 per year. A monthly bulletin is printed and sent to all members, who are also entitled to place free exchange ads in the bulletin on a space available basis. The MACC publishes a membership directory of all members together with their airpost collecting specialties.

Under the guidance of Harry Levine and Gus F. Lancaster, auctions are held regularly. Not only are members able to obtain covers and stamps for their collections, but at the same time a percentage of the proceeds goes into the treasury to be used for the benefit of the membership.

Members are also able to dispose of covers and stamps in club auctions. (It may be mentioned that Messrs. Levine and Lancaster are doing an excellent job at co-editors of the "MACC Bulletin").

At the July 1958 American Air Mail Society Convention in Philadelphia, MACC President Samuel S. Goldsticker Jr. received the Charter from AAMS President John J. Smith, designating the Metropolitan Air-Mail Cover Club as Chapter No. 31 of the American Air Mail Society. Thus the "New York Chapter" of the AAMS came into being. This now makes it possible for all AAMS members when visiting New York to drop in at a Chapter meeting and visit with their fellow members.

The present officers of the Metropolitan Air-Mail Cover Club include Samuel S. Goldsticker, Jr., president; Louis Fischbach and Robert E. Harring, vice presidents; Harold J. Frankel, treasurer; Harry Levine, recording secretary, and Gus F. Lancaster, corresponding secretary.

Meetings are held at 8 p.m. the 2nd Friday of every month at 226 W. 42 Street, fifth floor of the Happiness Exchange Bldg., New York City. This location is in the heart of New York City and easily reached by car, bus, train, or plane. Guests are always welcome.

All inquiries pertaining to the Metropolitan Air-Mail Cover Club should be directed to Harold J. Frankel, 9307 3rd Ave., Brooklyn 9, N. Y.

Brief History Of The American Air Mail Society

John J. Smith

The American Air Mail Society was founded in 1923 by Maj. Joseph A. Steinmetz, George W. Angers and Harry A. Truby — just 12 years after the first official U. S. Airmail Flight, September 23, 1911. It had not taken long for collectors to realize, with the up and coming "air age", that an organization was needed.

Actually, the very first airmail group was organized in 1913 but the outbreak of World War I caused this first "Aero Mail Club" to disband before it had a chance to develop to any great extent.

The American Air Mail Society was originally organized under the name of "The Aero Philatelic Society of America" on August 10, 1923 in Philadelphia. Its prime objective was "to promote interest in aerophilately". Every society must have a publication and this job went to George W. Angers who published the first issue of "Aero-Newsletter", a mimeographed affair, on November 9, 1923. At that time there was a membership of 21!

In the years since 1923 the AAMS (official name since 1926) has contributed much in the field of aerophilately. Our own monthly magazine, "THE AIRPOST JOURNAL", was first published by the society in 1931. Each issue covers the entire field of aerophilately. The APJ is presently under the editorship of Joseph L. Eisendrath, Jr., of Highland Park, Ill.

The American Air Mail Society is proud of its publication program. Airmail stamps have long been adequately covered by the several commercial catalogs in the field, but the publication of a comprehensive catalog of airpost covers was needed to record the development of the airmail services. Consequently, the American Air Mail Catalogue was first published in 1939.

With the fast developing airmail services after World War II a second edition was needed. The first volume of 600 pages was published in 1947 and the second of 600 was released in 1950. The third volume of this set is now ready for publication and will list the material which has appeared since the publication of the first two.

Shortly after the end of World War II considerable interest developed in the field of air-letter sheets. As a result the society has published several editions of its Air Letter Sheet Catalogue which is accepted as the standard in this field. A new edition is in prospect and consideration is being given to the publication of a catalog covering the entire field of aero-postal stationery — envelopes, postal cards and aerograms.

One of the outstanding operations of the American Air Mail Society is the Advance Bulletin Service. Its purpose is to provide collectors with information which will permit them to prepare their own covers for various flights.

The society maintains a sales department through which members may buy or sell stamps or covers. Also, each member has the privilege of placing two ads, without charge, in The Airpost Journal in which he may list his wants or offer his duplicates in exchange. About twice a year an airpost auction is conducted.

AAMS has always endeavored to cooperate with all postal authorities, both United States and foreign, to bring about a better understanding between the post office and the collector. The society has been honored on numerous occasions by first day stamp releases during its conventions, by the post office departments of the U. S., Cuba and the United Nations. Of course, aerophilately is a specialty and as such all collectors would not necessarily be interested in the AAMS. But most collectors, somewhere in their holdings have some airmail material. Airpost collecting can be a fascinating and rewarding phase of philately.

Our society, to be able to continue to serve philately, must expand and grow. The methods by which philatelic organizations can reach collectors are limited and the AAMS is indeed fortunate to be able to reach so many collectors at this time through the kindness of Linn's in making this special American Air Mail Society issue possible. Perhaps this issue has aroused your concern and you are interested in becoming a member. If so, write Mrs. Ruth T. Smith, secretary-treasurer, Fernale and Emerson Sts., Philadelphia 11, Pa. Any collector joining as a result of this special Linn's issue will receive with our compliments a first day of the 4c UN airmail postal card and an FDC of the 4c UN airmail stamp. These two items were issued during the 34th Annual Convention of the American Air Mail Society and each card bears the official AAMS cachet.

The anniversaries of two schools of higher education will be noted on slogan cancellations January 1 - June 30, according to PMG Summerfield. One, at Winston-Salem, N. C., will mark the "Wake Forest College 125th anniversary 1834-1959". The other, at Valparaiso, Ind., will note the "Valparaiso University Centennial 1859-1959".

On January 2 Montgomery, N. Y., WILL BEGIN USE OF A CA e will begin use of a cancellation reading "Sesquicentennial Celebration June 28-July 4, 1959", to be used through July 4. Finally, from January 18 through July 18, Cando, N. D., will utilize a special device reading "Diamond Jubilee Cando, N. Dak. July 16-18, 1959".

Weymer's War Covers In Philadelphia Showing

The December 17 meeting of the Philadelphia, Pa. chapter of the American First Day Cover Society featured a showing and discussion of covers of the Russo-Japanese War, by Harry K. Weymer, Philadelphia student of Japanese philately.

Linn's December 15 advance notice of the event erroneously credited the showing to Louis Meyer, president of the group. Mr. Meyer will be pleased to hear from collectors interested in first day cover collecting. His address is 244 Fernon St., Philadelphia 48, Pa.

ALBUMS

- 1) Scott's International Album, 1901-1920,
with thousands of stamps already
mounted. Catalog value will run several hundred dollars. Stamps of this period will bring closer to catalog, too.
Many countries nearly complete. The Austrian Section alone worth the price
of $50.
- 2) Scott's International Album, 1920-1929.
As complete as above and even more mounted stamps. U.S.A. very complete with many mint stamps. (Pilgrims, Lexington-Concord). Also only $50.
- 3) Brand new Part I Scott's International Album (but no stamps) $25.00.
- 4) Scott's Modern Postage Album (1938 edition) Almost as many stamps in this medium size album as those above
from 1939 back to give you the older,
better value stamps. Bargain at $20.

Do not hesitate to send us your order.
If sold out prompt refunds will be made
and we want you on our mailing list. Wilson Stamp Service, Lockhart, S. C.
